Public skating is supervised by volunteers, and a code of conduct ensures that this community recreation activity will be able to continue. All arena rules are posted in the arena. Due to several incidences of misbehavior and disrespect in past years, the following code of conduct for the arena has been created;

First offence—asked to leave and reported to the Arena committee

Second offence—asked to leave, reported to the arena committee, banned for 2 weeks minimum, depending on severity of offence);

Third offence—banned for the year, and possibly longer (depending on severity and time of third offence).

The arena is to be respected at all times. It is a privilege to go skating. Volunteers give up their own time to provide a service for the community. They do not need to put up with disrespectful or unruly behavior.

We hope all community members will respect and enjoy the rink.

1. Outdoor scavenger hunt

Make a list of commonly found outdoor items, then go on a walk together with your list and see if you can find all the items.

2. Create a nature journal

Using a notebook, draw pictures and write stories about the different outdoor areas you've explored and the trees or animals you've come across.

3. Learn about winter species

Research online or at the library about winter birds and other animals in your region. Then, next time you're outside, see if you can find any of the species you've learned about.

4. Nature hike

Get some fresh air and exercise while practicing your math. Time your hike, work out the distance, and calculate your average speed on your hike.

5. Make story stones

Find rocks outside and draw a different nature-themed picture on each. Then take turns telling stories using the stones.

6. Head in the clouds

Look at the different clouds in the sky and see if the shapes of the clouds look like familiar objects, such as animals or people.

7. Number walk

As you put on your shoes, choose something you want to count during your walk. It could be dogs, trees, stop signs, cars—anything you want! On your walk, count how many you can find.

8. Snow art

Use emptied dish soap bottles filled with water and food colouring to write messages and draw in the snow.

9. A course of course

Build an obstacle course in your backyard or at a park and draw a map of how to go through it from beginning to end.

10. Adopt a tree

Pick a nearby tree that is special to you and spend time observing and learning about the tree.

The Resource Center is pleased to be hosting

Wintersmart Feb. 8 —11 2022

Christopher Love, the instructor from the Lifesaving Society, will be in Cranberry to facilitate some winter and ice safety sessions in the schools as well as a First Aid course.

If you are interested in the Emergency First Aid/CPR-C & AED Training please call the Resource Center. The sessions are 8 hours and tentatively scheduled for Thursday, Feb. 10th from 9 am—5:30 pm. Class size is limited and proof of vaccination will be required. There is no charge for this course. The schedule will be confirmed soon, and may change based on Public Health Orders. Call to register 204 472-3671 or send us a message on our Cranberry Portage Community Resource Center Facebook page.

As school resumes, Cranberry Portage RCMP would like to remind drivers to be on the watch for students on the roadways. The school zones will continue to be a focus for the Detachment members to ensure the safety of everybody in town.

As part of our patrols, we will be out on the snowmobiles, cruising the trails and the lakes working with Conservation. Cranberry Portage RCMP has had a few complaints regarding the use of snowmobiles in town and people not wearing helmets. If infractions are noted in this regard, you run the risk of fines and possibly the impoundment of your machine.

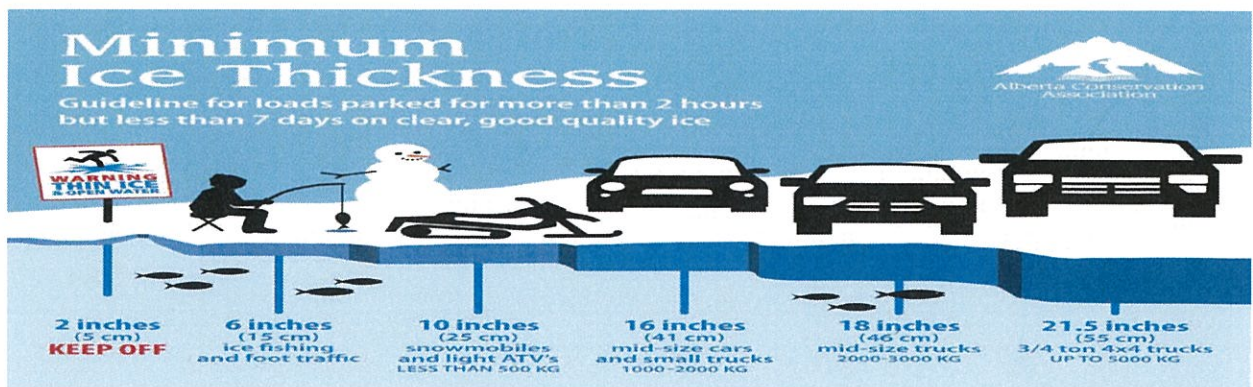

Please be safe and ride responsibly.

Covid doesn't seem to be going away any time soon. Please ensure you maintain your social distance and wear your mask as required. The fines for not wearing a mask are steep, almost $1300, so please, just wear a mask.

Hopefully the weather starts to warm up soon.

Stay safe, have fun and stay warm !!
